New models for presenting music and dance in the media
Brainstorming session on what could be the inventive formats for music in the media
It is everybody's aim in the business to search for new models and formats in the media to reach new audiences and survive under the pressure of quota. But where is the format discussion heading to? What are the real new inventive models that could attract the audience and present music and dance in a fast changing business? Or are there niches that could be taken, what synergies can be explored? These and other aspects will be discussed by IMZ experts during this session.
- 14.00-16.00
Music programmes for children and young people
Discussion between representatives of Children and Youth departments from broadcasters and IMZ experts. Setting up on the morning discussion, this panel will explore possible programmes which could be realized in cooperation between the music and C&Y departments of broadcasting stations and at production companies. What could be attractive new formats that could transport the musical content for children and young people appropriately and could raise young people today to show them the wonderful world of classical music? Synergies will be explored by means of exemplary projects to be discussed on the spot.
